Address ONLY for items that cannot be sent by email:

ATTN: Student Fellowship Application Pulitzer Center on Crisis Reporting
 1779 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Suite 615
 Washington, D.C. 20036

IMPORTANT NOTE: An electronic version of this application MUST be e-mailed by indicated due dates regardless of any materials you may need to send via “snail” mail. Mailed items must also arrive by due dates.

CONDITIONS: If you are awarded a Pulitzer International Reporting Student Fellowship, your project will have set deliverables (e.g. three blog posts, a narrative slideshow and a longer piece) agreed to by you and the Pulitzer Center and due by the end of August, 2020. Your work will be published on the Pulitzer Center site and possibly other outlets. You will also be expected to participate in outreach efforts for South Asia Center (SAC), Penn in Latin America and the Caribbean (PLAC) and Middle East Center (MEC) upon return to campus. This Fellowship includes a $3,500 award ($3,000 from Penn Global and $500 from the Pulitzer Center). Successful applicants must meet Penn Global and Pulitzer Center eligibility requirements. This includes a commitment to spend a minimum of eight weeks in the travel destination noted in your application. Upon award announcement, fellows will receive instructions on how to obtain the initial Penn Global grant of $3,000 to support travel. Once deliverables have been satisfactorily completed, the Pulitzer Center will provide a final $500 award.
